3D. Please provide details of the social and economic needs of people in rural areas which have been identified by the Public Authority?

Empowerment of rural women in Northern Ireland – impacts on poverty, development and current challenges.

In reviewing the available data it is apparent that there are many issues and challenges that rural women face within Northern Ireland. Some of these include:

- The persistence of the 'pay gap' between men and women;
- Under representation of women on decision making bodies and in elected office;
- Rural land is still largely owned, managed and worked by men – what opportunities for women?;
- Single pensioner and lone parent households being two of the main household groupings that have the highest risk of poverty, both of which are predominantly female;
- The ageing rural population – people living for longer and needing care and services. Also a gender impact as women live longer and are more likely to be carers than men;
- Centralisation of services and jobs – high transport costs in accessing education, health and employment;
- Lack of access to affordable and flexible childcare – particularly difficult within dispersed rural communities;
- Benefit traps: the impact of changes in benefits (such as working families tax credit and child care tax credit within the UK) have the potential risk of reinforcing poverty;
- Female poverty can often be 'hidden' as most research focuses on households rather than genders within households;
- Poor access to training opportunities and a reliance on networks to get into work, and non-unionisation of the rural workforce;
- The 'Rural Idyll' image continues to be prevalent - involves cultural assumptions and values. For example, being 'independent' is seen as a characteristic of rural dwellers; which can mean that individuals are reluctant to access welfare services and benefits. Also has the potential to restrict the roles that women play e.g. role as the mother or housewife;

SECTION 5 - Influencing the Policy, Strategy, Plan or Public Service
